I receive reward points for hotel stays; will I still receive my points using this discount?

We have our own built in rewards program which allows you to earn free vacations. If you have a rewards program for a particular brand then you will have to request the points at arrival. In most cases the property will approve it. If you have a credit card that allows you to earn cash back or points then you can double dip by using your credit card and Hotels Etc program to receive double points and deeper savings.
